

DALI

An original screenplay
starring Johnny Depp as Salvador Dali

Dream and film are closely affiliated in the movie "DALI." They pervade one another and speak the same language. Their words consist of images that are often both mysterious and familiar at the same time, and which we sometimes understand only intuitively without the use of reason or intellect of rationality. While some suppress unease at narratives as second hand realities, others delight in the power of cinematic spectacles that erase the real world.

storied from Salvador Dali's hotel rooms & adventures in love & art

by Brando Palomino Bronzino